Optimal Efficiency – for Comprehensive Healthcare

The modern service approach, based on outsourcing, ensures optimal efficiency and supports:

- Control over service quality
- Flexibility in contracting with service providers on the basis of quality and financial considerations.

This methodology is implemented through external service contracts with a broad range of service providers, comprised of over 2400 independent physicians, approximately 300 leading medical experts who provide consultations, 250 diagnostic centers, 600 pharmacies and private and public hospitals.

Sophisticated Laboratories and Diagnostic Services

Laboratories

Maccabi Healthcare Services provides its members access to the services of one of the world's most advanced laboratories, in terms of both professional and technological standards. The laboratory services entail 250 sample collection sites throughout Israel. The entire process, from the physician's referral, through intake of the request at the collection site and performance of the test, to the dissemination of the test results to the referring physician's computer and freestanding computerized user stations, is supervised by a sophisticated computer system under a total quality assurance policy.

In order to enable Maccabi members to benefit from professional and rapid service, Maccabi operates an automated, highly advanced "mega lab" facility where numerous and diverse tests are performed with no human intervention. Test results are transferred directly to the referring physician's computer and recorded in each member's computerized medical records.

Imaging Services

Over 50 diagnostic radiology specialists and over 100 certified X-ray technicians staff the 24 imaging clinics which provide services to Maccabi members. These facilities specialize in imaging tests such as ultrasound, X-rays, mammography and others. Most imaging facilities are equipped with advanced X-ray equipment, innovative ultrasound devices and special nuclear medicine equipment.

healthcare system

Teleradiology

Maccabi members also benefit from an innovative system, which is the world's first and largest of its kind : The system transfers imaging results from distant facilities to a central diagnostic center, using high speed communication lines. This service enables rapid and precise interpretation of imaging results in real time, even at facilities which do not benefit from the continuous attendance of a radiologist. The Teleradiology Center provides services to 24 imaging centers all over the country.

Mammography

As part of a national project, Maccabi's imaging services offer all women mammography tests for the early-detection of breast cancer. Our aim is to encourage women around the age of 50 to undergo an examination once every two years, as is the case for women in other developed countries. The tests and procedures performed by Maccabi are recorded in a computerized follow-up program.

Cardiac Diagnostics and Cardiac Rehabilitation

Within its Cardiology Services, Maccabi provides cardiac diagnostic services and rehabilitative services for cardiac patients. The staff of specialists who manage the cardiac centers are responsible for all diagnostic testing performed, including stress tests, cardiac scanning, holter, echocardiography and EKG interpretation. Treatment and consultations, elements of the services provided by Maccabi to its members, include services at the Procardia Medical Center, which is the recovery and rehabilitation center for patients released from hospital care. In addition, Procardia operates a sophisticated cardiac diagnostic clinic. Maccabi also operates the CardioStyle medical supervision program, for cardiac rehabilitation and enhancement of physical fitness and cardiac health. This program is designed for cardiac patients recovering from cardiac events and for Maccabi members at risk of cardiac disease due to hypertension, obesity, diabetes, high cholesterol and lack of physical activity.

The Triangle of Health – For a Longer Life.....

At the hub of Maccabi's activities to promote the health and well-being of its members is the Triangle of Health, the foundation for maintaining health and improving the quality of life: a non-smoking, physically active and nutritionally balanced lifestyle.

Maccabi works to promote these aims through a variety of methods:

Smoking Cessation Workshops

These workshops take place in collaboration with the Israel Cancer Association, led by a psychologist.

Physical Activity

Maccabi conducts a variety of walking groups, tailored to the physical fitness levels of each participant. With a small number of walkers in each group, walks take place during early morning or evening hours, depending on the group's size. Maccabi also offers exercise classes for women, men and youngsters, led by instructors educated in physiotherapy. Exercise classes are designed to strengthen, firm and flex muscles, improve posture and prevent backaches and pains.

Balanced Nutrition

Proper nutritional habits contribute to the prevention and reduction of the risks of common and serious diseases. As part of Maccabi's Comprehensive Health Care concept, individual nutritional counseling by a dietitian is available to members, as are workshops to change eating habits which are tailored to adults, adolescents and children.

Adult workshops focus on various methods of weight-loss and lifestyle modification, necessary to maintain achievements over time. The groups targeting adolescents and children deal with changing eating habits and information on nutrition for children and their parents. Workshops take place in a hands-on atmosphere which supports controlled weight loss. In addition, Maccabi administers educational programs on healthy nutrition and adolescent nutrition in schools.

Maccabi is active in healthcare education through numerous channels: the Maccabi website, the Maccabitan quarterly, educational video films on cardiac diseases, sex education for adolescents, education on pregnancy and childbirth, as well as on balanced nutrition. Maccabi publishes information pamphlets on various health-related issues and medical conditions including nutrition, physical activity, self examination for breast cancer, cholesterol, hypertension, jaundice and diabetes. Maccabi also distributes informational brochures on the risks of exposure to the sun, the prevention and treatment of head lice, high fever in children and a guide to services of the Triangle of Health.

Maccabi Shield Association- Long Term Care Fund Protection All the Way

The Maccabi Shield Association, to which the majority of Maccabi members belong, meets the needs emerging as a result of the legislative decision to exclude nursing home care from the National Health Insurance Law.

The Long Term Care Fund provides nursing care services subject to the Nursing Care Fund by-laws and Maccabi Shield Rights and Obligations Document, which are designed to assist family members who assume an active role in the personal and financial support of a patient in need of nursing care.

There are two treatment alternatives open to Silver Long term Care and Gold Long Term Care plan members – either partial reimbursement of nursing home expenses, or the direct delivery of at-home nursing care.

This comprehensive healthcare plan supplements Maccabi members' rights and ensures that members receive continuity of treatment by the same professional team caring for their health over the years, and provides a complete and individualized solution to the unique needs of each member.

Maccabi members are entitled to benefit from these services at special attractive rates, compared to other healthcare providers and private insurance carriers.

A Shield for Your Health at Maccabi

Silver Shield – Gold Shield – For Your Maximum Security
"Healthcare must be in the hands of an organization which has an encompassing commitment to the health and welfare of its members" – this has been Maccabi's guiding motto throughout its history.

On the basis of this principle, Maccabi was the first healthcare provider to offer its members supplementary health care services, beyond existing medical services.

The National Health Insurance Law which recently came into effect, defined a "national list (basket) of medical services" which was less inclusive than the range of services provided to Maccabi members prior to its enactment. To retain the excellent scope of services which Maccabi offered its members in the past, Maccabi established additional healthcare plans – Silver Shield and Gold Shield – at a reasonable cost to all members, with membership unrestricted by any medical condition. These supplementary healthcare services contribute to the health and quality of life of our members and therefore, membership in these plans provides peace of mind and a sense of security.

a total healthcare

Complete Security for Maccabi Members

Our members' best interests are the central axis of Maccabi Healthcare Services. This is why Maccabi invests significant resources to develop assessment tools which ensure the quality of medical services, and continuously seeks improvements in the delivery of these services. Moreover, Maccabi continuously invests in the development of new and innovative services for the welfare of its members.

"Maccabi Around the Clock"

Maccabi members enjoy the availability of a national information Call Center, manned by our administrative and medical staff around the clock, all year round. The "Maccabi Around the Clock" center is just another link in the chain of quality services available to Maccabi members.

Human Resources At Our Members' Service

To ensure excellent services delivery to members, Maccabi's Human Resources Department uses professional and personal criteria for a careful selection of candidates for employment. The Training and Human Resources Development Department provides training to employees and managers in their fields of activity, placing special emphasis on enhanced employee professional standards and updates on new and advanced medical and administrative methods. For many years, Maccabi has operated a professional continuing education center for physicians, which offers enrichment programs and workshops in clinical service and delivery quality.

Maccabi also provides diverse training programs where staff members acquire tools for service delivery enhancement. Training is designed to ensure that Maccabi members attain the highest level of satisfaction of all national healthcare system members.

House Calls

In collaboration with "Bikur-Rofeh," physicians make house calls to Maccabi Healthcare Services members after clinic and branch business hours – at night, on weekends and holidays. Physicians provide preliminary medical treatment in members' homes, including examinations and the dispensing of medications as necessary. The physician will also handle a transfer to a hospital facility, if required.

Second Opinion by Massachusetts General Hospital Specialists

A joint collaboration agreement with the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston, USA, allows Maccabi members to obtain second opinions, at minimal cost and rapid response time, from hospital chiefs of services and senior physicians at the Boston Medical Center who are members of the faculty of Harvard's School of Medicine. A special Maccabi team guides members and their physicians through all stages of the consultation. Maccabi members may also obtain second opinions from other medical centers worldwide.

Broad Range of Services for Maccabi Members

In response to members' needs, Maccabi Healthcare Services has established comprehensive service centers in several fields, where excellent professionals and specialists are at the disposal of our members. The skills and reliable service our staff provides, reinforces our members' trust in Maccabi.

Consulting and Assistance to Members in Obtaining Income Tax Exemptions

Under certain conditions, the Income Tax authorities provide an income tax exemption to individuals who have become disabled temporarily due to illness, hospitalization or surgery, or who suffer from a permanent disability.

The procedure is not a simple one – members are required to be familiar with the details, obtain the required authorizations, file applications with the relevant committees and complete additional steps. We have found that the very patients who are most in need of the exemption are both mentally and physically unable to deal with the rigors of the procedure. The Tax Benefits Services, part of Maccabi Healthcare Services, was established to assist members in exercising their rights. A skilled team of medical specialists and tax experts, with extensive knowledge of the procedures, helps Maccabi members exercise their full legal rights and receive all the benefits to which they are entitled by law.

The Tax Benefits Services staff are experienced in examining the merits of each individual case, and assist members or their families in understanding the laws, preparing for medical review committees and exercising their full rights.

Maccabi Dental Clinics

Maccabi members benefit from professional, reliable and high standard dental care at Maccabi's network of 45 dental clinics dispersed throughout Israel. All dental clinics hold ISO 9002 certification, which requires continuous quality assurance of the standard of treatments and laboratory work, as well as the quality of dental metals and materials used. The work in Maccabi's dental clinics is guided by a team of outside specialists and consultants, who provide supervision, medical evaluations and second opinions.

The dental clinics offer a wide range of services:

Alongside its computerization and logistics system, which supports immediate updating of information in a member’s medical record, Maccabi Healthcare Services is also assisted by the Amos Satellite, which provides an up to date picture of the types and dosages of medications used by each individual member.

Computerization and Information Systems

To maintain effective management of the medical and administrative systems, Maccabi operates a technologically advanced computer unit and sophisticated database, which automatically updates the medical records of all members in real time.

The information stored in a central computer constitutes an integrated database which provides a comprehensive and detailed picture of the medical and pharmacological history of each and every Maccabi member. When contacting any Maccabi-associated physician or during hospitalization, the availability of members' medical records ensures rapid and effective medical treatment.

Through our secured internet site, Maccabi members are able to review their medical records, access medical information and receive individual medical feedback.
